Written Testimony

Springs are priceless gifts from nature that keeps many of our natural resources in balance, esp. along our shorelines. In this case Kanewai creates the "muliwai" or brackish waters along the shoreline for the life forms of herbivores, which depend on limu or algae to survive. These muliwai are the key to our ability to raise fish along our shoreline and thus critical to our quest to future food security for Hawaii. I can not over state the importance of springs in Hawaii and its value to the survival of our future generations.
