Chair's Message

Chair Boyd S. Andrade, Sr.

The Honolulu Police Commission enjoyed another year marked with personal enrichment, knowledge, understanding, and aloha spirit. We proudly celebrated our 75th anniversary along with the Honolulu Police Department. Since our formation in 1932 the Honolulu Police Commission and the Honolulu Police Department continue to respect, acknowledge, and adapt to the changes in societal values and attitudes to effectively serve the public.

As the host county of the 2007 State of Hawaii Police Commissioners' Conference, we were able to bring together the four county commissions, police chiefs, police union officials, and corporation counsels. This provided an opportunity to exchange ideas, discuss issues and concerns common to all commissions, and to network.

Attendance at other events this year such as conferences hosted by the Law Enforcement Coalition of Hawaii, Hawaii State Law Enforcement Officials Association (HSELOA), and National Association For Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE) have increased our understanding and heightened our awareness of good service management and issues affecting other agencies and organizations.

Although there was a 17 percent increase in citizen complaints from 2006 to 2007, this is no cause for alarm as the Honolulu Police Department's training program has been recognized as one of the best in the country. The Honolulu Police Department is considered one of the finest police departments nationally and internationally and currently holds the Tri-Arc Excellence Award by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies.

I would also like to thank my fellow commissioners and the staff for outstanding contributions and continued support during this year.

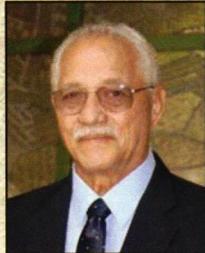

BOYD S. ANDRADE, SR.
Chair

REVISED CHARTER OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF HONOLULU, 1973 (2000 Edition)

Section 6-1605, Police Commission

There shall be a Police Commission which shall consist of seven members. The Commission may appoint such staff and engage consultants as is necessary to assist it in the performance of its duties. The Commission shall be governed by the provisions of Section 13-103, Boards and Commissions, of this charter.

Section 6-1606. Powers, duties, and functions

The Police Commission shall:

- (a) Adopt such rules as it may consider necessary for the conduct of its business and review rules and regulations for the administration of the department.
- (b) Review the annual budget prepared by the Chief of Police and may make recommendations thereon to the Mayor.
- (c) Submit an annual report to the Mayor and the City Council.
- (d) Receive, consider and investigate charges brought by the public against the conduct of the department or any of its members and submit a written report of its findings to the Chief of Police. A summary of the charges filed and their disposition shall be included in the annual report of the Commission.
- (e) Review and, if deemed necessary, make recommendations on the five-year plan and any update of goals and objectives for the police department which is submitted by the Chief of Police. The Commission shall not have the power to approve, modify, or reject the plan or any update.
- (f) Compare at least annually the actual achievements of the police department against the goals and objectives in the five-year plan or latest update submitted by the Chief.
- (g) Evaluate at least annually the performance of duties by the Chief of Police.

Except for purposes of inquiry or as otherwise provided in this charter, neither the Commission nor its members shall interfere in any way with the administrative affairs of the department.

COMPLAINT PROCEDURE

A citizen may register a formal complaint at the Commission office between the hours of 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. If the complainant is unable to register his/her complaint at the Commission office, the citizen may call the office to make alternate arrangements through the outreach program.

Complaints must be filed within 60 days from the date of the incident to ensure the availability of accurate investigative information. Past experience has shown that waiting more than 60 days may result in unclear recall by witnesses, an inability on the part of the investigators to locate witnesses, or general confusion and distortion of the facts by all parties involved. The Commission, however, may permit the filing of a complaint after the 60-day period for the following reasons: 1) excusable neglect; 2) newly discovered evidence which by reasonable diligence could not have been discovered in time; or 3) any other reason justifying relief from the 60-day limitation.

The aggrieved citizen gives a statement of the incident to an investigator or police reporter. Upon completion of the final typed statement, the citizen has the opportunity to make any corrections. The complainant signs the statement attesting to its accuracy and the statement is notarized.

A Police Commission investigator (a non-law enforcement, civil service employee) begins the investigation by contacting as many witnesses as possible and gathering all available facts.

Once a case is filed with the Commission office, efforts are made to complete the investigation within 60 days to preserve the timeliness of investigations and any resultant disciplinary action.

This information is compiled in an objective report and presented to the Commission members for review.

Each Police Commissioner carefully reads the report and renders a recommendation to uphold or deny the allegations of the complaint. This is recorded at an Executive Session. A majority opinion, consisting of four or more votes, determines the disposition of each case. If more information is needed or if a majority vote is lacking, the case is deferred. In the event a majority vote sustains a complaint, the case is then submitted to the Chief of Police for disciplinary action. The result of said action is forwarded to the Commission.

2007 State of Hawaii Police Commissioners' Conference May 22-23, 2007

Community Partnership with Law Enforcement was the theme of the 2007 State of Hawaii Police Commissioners' Conference proudly hosted by the Honolulu Police Commission at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel.

The conference assembled police commissioners, law enforcement officials, corporation counsels, and police union representatives from the four counties of the State of Hawaii. It provided opportunities to dialogue, exchange ideas, and discuss police commission issues and concerns that may impact the commissions' oversight of their respective police departments.

The conference program was designed and carved to meet the needs of the commissioners and to provide assistance to effectively discharge responsibilities and duties. In an effort to heighten awareness and increase understanding of civilian oversight, the Honolulu Police Commission enlisted the assistance of Prosecuting Attorney Peter B. Carlisle, Drake Beil, Ed.D., Alan J. Skobin, Tenari Maafala, and its own commissioners, Hunsaker and Amemiya, as presenters in their areas of expertise. The accolades and compliments of the audience are indicative that the speakers clearly articulated their subjects in an excellent manner.

54th Annual Hawaii State Law Enforcement Officials Association Conference September 12-14, 2007

The Kauai County Police Department hosted the 54th Annual Hawaii State Law Enforcement Officials Association Conference at the Hilton Kauai Beach Resort from September 12-14, 2007. "Law Enforcement: Changes and Challenges in the 21st Century" was the conference theme.

The Hawaii state law enforcement community is faced with new challenges to fight crime and maintain safe neighborhoods. These challenges may be attributed to the changing societal and cultural values and attitudes of the citizens that could be directly related to advanced technologies. In order to meet the challenges, our law enforcement community will continue to grow. Education and training by experts to provide insight and understanding of cyber-conflict, security awareness and information warfare are necessary.

The conference came to a close with a banquet honoring men and women of the law enforcement community for their outstanding dedication, commitment and contributions as a law enforcement officer or agent. The following were recognized as HSLEOA Officers of the Year:

Sergeant Harry Burt
Honolulu Police Department

Officer Zane Hamrick
Honolulu Police Department

Officer Jeffrey A. Hunt
Maui County Police Department

Sergeant Ezra Kanani Kanoho
Kauai County Police Department

Officer John J. Weber
Hawaii County Police Department

Special Agent Jeff Rutherford
Federal Law Enforcement

Sergeant Jason L. Scachette
Military Law Enforcement

13th Annual National Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement Conference

TRANSPARENCY, ACCOUNTABILITY AND INTEGRITY was the theme of the 13th Annual National Association of Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (NACOLE) Conference that was held at the Fairmont Hotel in San Jose, California from September 25-28, 2007.

NACOLE has been the leader and vehicle for the past 12 years to promote and develop civilian oversight of law enforcement. This has been the foundation of the conference that has brought together a wide variety of civilian oversight practitioners and professionals, members of the community, elected and government officials, and law enforcement officers nationally and internationally. The conference provided opportunities to exchange information and ideas and to extensively discuss civilian oversight.

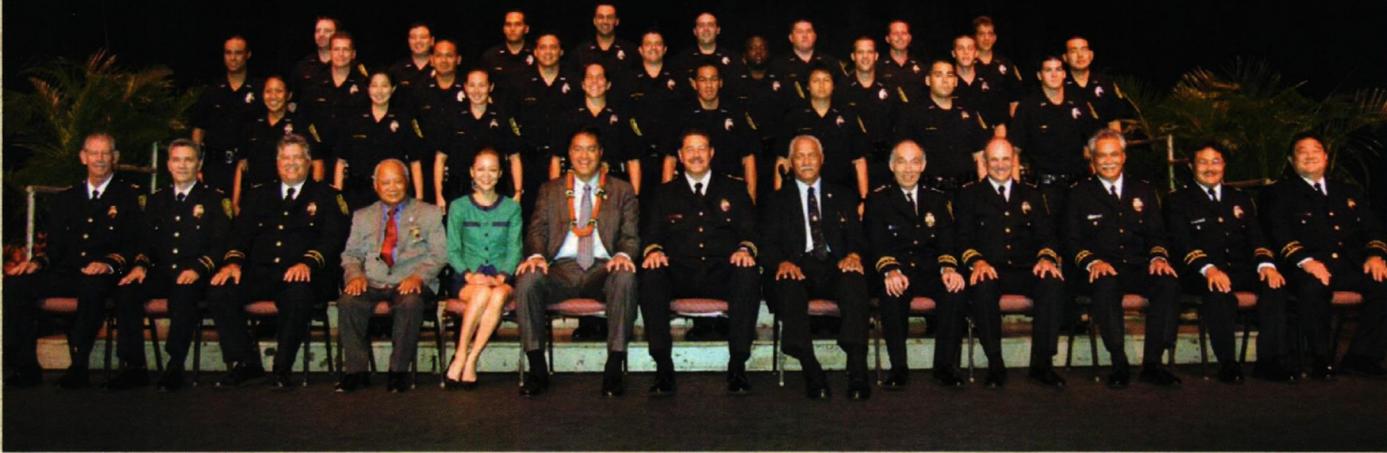

The conference offered a wide range of topics to include: workshops on use-of-force investigations, writing statistical reports and oversight of jails and prisons; panel discussions on mediation of complaints, police monitoring of political activities, and creating greater awareness of police-transgender issues; training on topics ranging from conducting police misconduct hearings to development and survival of boards and commissions. A 2006 California Supreme Court decision on how it impacted police oversight was presented. This was the largest number of delegates that attended a NACOLE conference.

The conference was well planned, well organized, enriched with prestigious speakers and presenters who were superb in their topics of discussion.
