FOREWORD

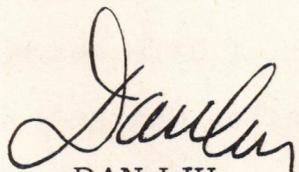

"The amount of crime committed in a community is not solely chargeable to the police, but rather, a charge against the whole community. "

These are the words of John Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which it would do well for all of us to keep in mind as we review the facts and data contained in this report.

Efficient police service is but one of several forces combatting the problem of juvenile delinquency. Its solution calls for the concerted efforts and coordinated action by the entire community. Needless to say, there is no substitute for proper home training and a well balanced life.

We acknowledge with great appreciation the continued cooperation, interest and confidence extended by our many public-spirited individuals, community associations and other private and public agencies and solicit their continued support.

Let us all participate in an offensive march against the enemy!

DAN LIU
Chief of Police

"Suppression, prevention, and investigation of crimes committed by minors under the age of eighteen." This is the responsibility of the Juvenile Crime Prevention Division as spelled out in Section 333-23 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii, 1955. However, this Division also handles many adult cases such as Contributing to the Delinquency of a Minor, Indecent Exposure, Sex Offenses, Ill-treatment of children where children are victims of adult wrongdoing.

We do not undertake treatment, but the police is cognizant of the element of treatment invoked in every police contact. Proper counseling to give guidance to a first offender may change the whole future of a potential delinquent. Juveniles with minor offenses are counseled and released to their parents or guardians; and those with major offenses and also with long list of arrests are referred to the Juvenile Court, the Department of Public Welfare, Child and Family Service, Catholic Social Service, or some other social agency in the community for needed treatment. Adequate police investigation is made before a child is referred.

OPERATION HELP

In January of 1956, the Department of Public Welfare entered a new bold approach in the field of prevention. The idea emanated from a series of articles by Mrs. Muriel Lawrence, columnist for NEA Service, who said in substance that there are agencies to help a child who becomes a delinquent and queried whether the community had anything to help a child who is clearly headed for delinquency.

Chief of Police Dan Liu; Mr. Gerald Burtnett of the Honolulu Advertiser; the Honorable Gerald R. Corbett, Judge of the Juvenile Court; and Miss Mary Noonan, Director of the Department of Public Welfare, collaborated in establishing "Operation Help".

Under this project, a child welfare worker is assigned to assist in the adjustment of family situations and conditions that are referred by the police and which are or appear to be contributory to the delinquency of a child or children. In this pilot study, he deals with cases of neglect, cruelty, abuse, abandonment, runaway, incorrigibility, and curfews.

In 1956, an average of twelve cases each month were referred to Operation Help. Such service of providing direct referral from the police to the Department of Public Welfare has resulted in faster and better service at less costs to the community. It has also enhanced the cooperation between the police officer and the social worker, and we hope that Operation Help will be able to continue with its much needed program.

STATISTICS

Statistics are essential as a guide to legislative action, the formulation of administrative policies, and the scientific study of the problems of crime. It enables us to draw inferences regarding the volume and character, the diffusion, the concentration and the trends of crime.

Since 1947, the number of arrests in the Part I Offenses has increased 62 per cent, while Part II Offenses increased 26 per cent. Both Part I and Part II arrests increased 38 per cent in the last ten years.

Part I Offenses

Murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, burglary, thefts, and aggravated assaults are crimes in this category. Juveniles were responsible for 1,414 offenses or 56.9 per cent of all major crimes cleared.

There were 1,727 juvenile arrests, an increase of 94 over 1955. Noticeable increase is noted in burglary and auto theft. In 1956, we had 672 burglary arrests compared to 569 in 1955; 218 auto theft arrests and 172 in 1955. Decrease is noted in the larceny arrests from 859 in 1955 to 821 in 1956.

Out of the total arrests, males were responsible for 1,580, an increase of 77 over 1955, while female arrests climbed from 130 in 1955 to 147 in 1956.

The largest distribution of arrests among juveniles in 1956 occurred at the ages in the following order: 14 (320), 16 (277), 13 (277), 15 (251), and 17 (228).

Part II Offenses

All other crimes, numbering 20 offenses, are Part II Offenses which showed a total of 2,933 arrests, an increase of 77 over 1955. Arrests for Disorderly Conduct jumped from 86 in 1955 to 120 in 1956; Vagrancy, from 85 to 129. It is interesting to observe that there was only one arrest for prostitution, none for drug laws, and gambling dropped from 106 in 1955 to 34 in 1956.

Regarding the increase of juvenile offenses, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said, "The threat inherent in the rapid rise of crime can be met effectively only by coordinated effort. An offensive launched by individual citizens, interested institutions, by civil authorities and by law enforcement is essential."

Traffic

The total number of arrests for traffic violations declined from 835 in 1955 to 760 in 1956, of which 709 were males and only 51 were females. Approximately 410 juveniles, mostly traffic offenders, attended the Traffic School, which was conducted by the Police Department.

INSPECTIONS

More than 250 inspections and supervisory checks of night clubs, amusement centers, dance halls, bowling alleys, and neighborhood hangouts were made by our investigators, policewomen, and reserve officers.

COMMUNITY CONTACT

Representatives from this Division have addressed various schools, PTA's, churches, business and fraternal organizations on youth problems and delinquency preventive programs. They have also led and served on committees, both public and private, in different capacities.

COURSE IN DELINQUENCY

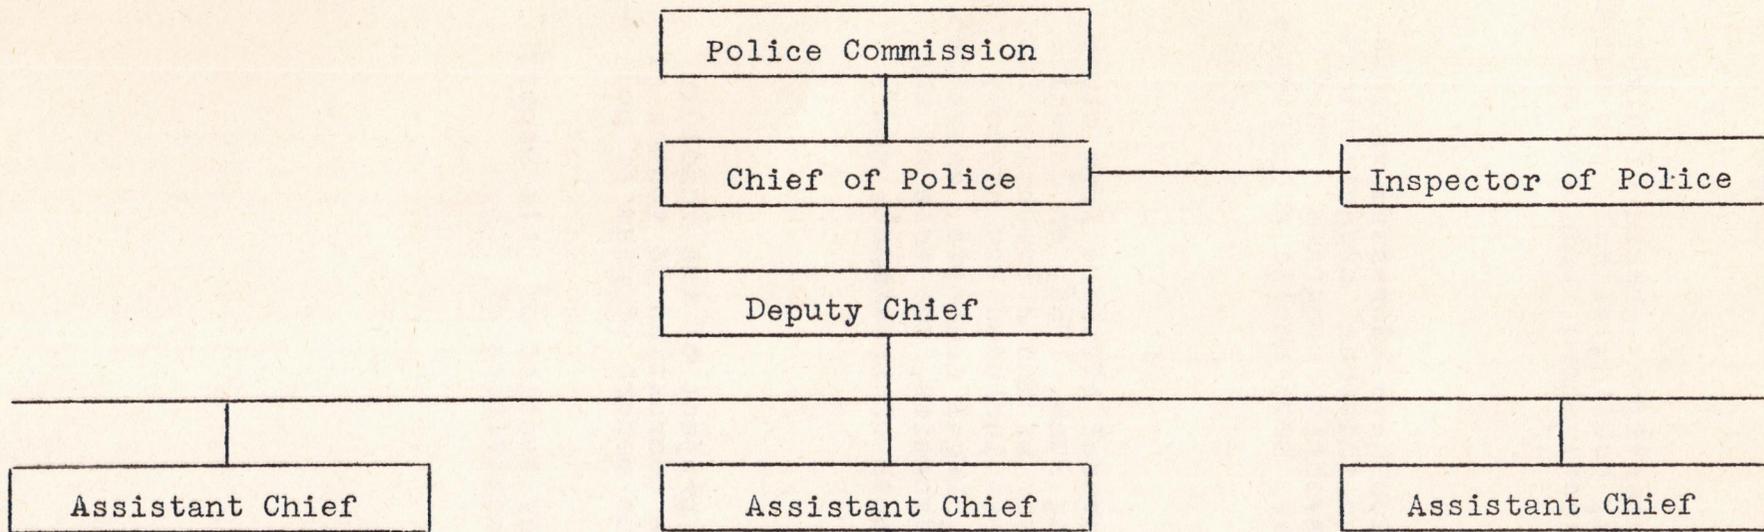

Members of this Division with several officers from other units attended a 16-hour course during June, 1956, on Juvenile Delinquency conducted by the supervisor of Men's Probation Division of the Juvenile Court. The course included the history and philosophy of the Juvenile Court, legal concepts, causation factors of delinquency, basic psychodynamics, the role of the police and social agencies, some aspects of treatment, and delinquency prevention.

PREVENTION PROGRAM

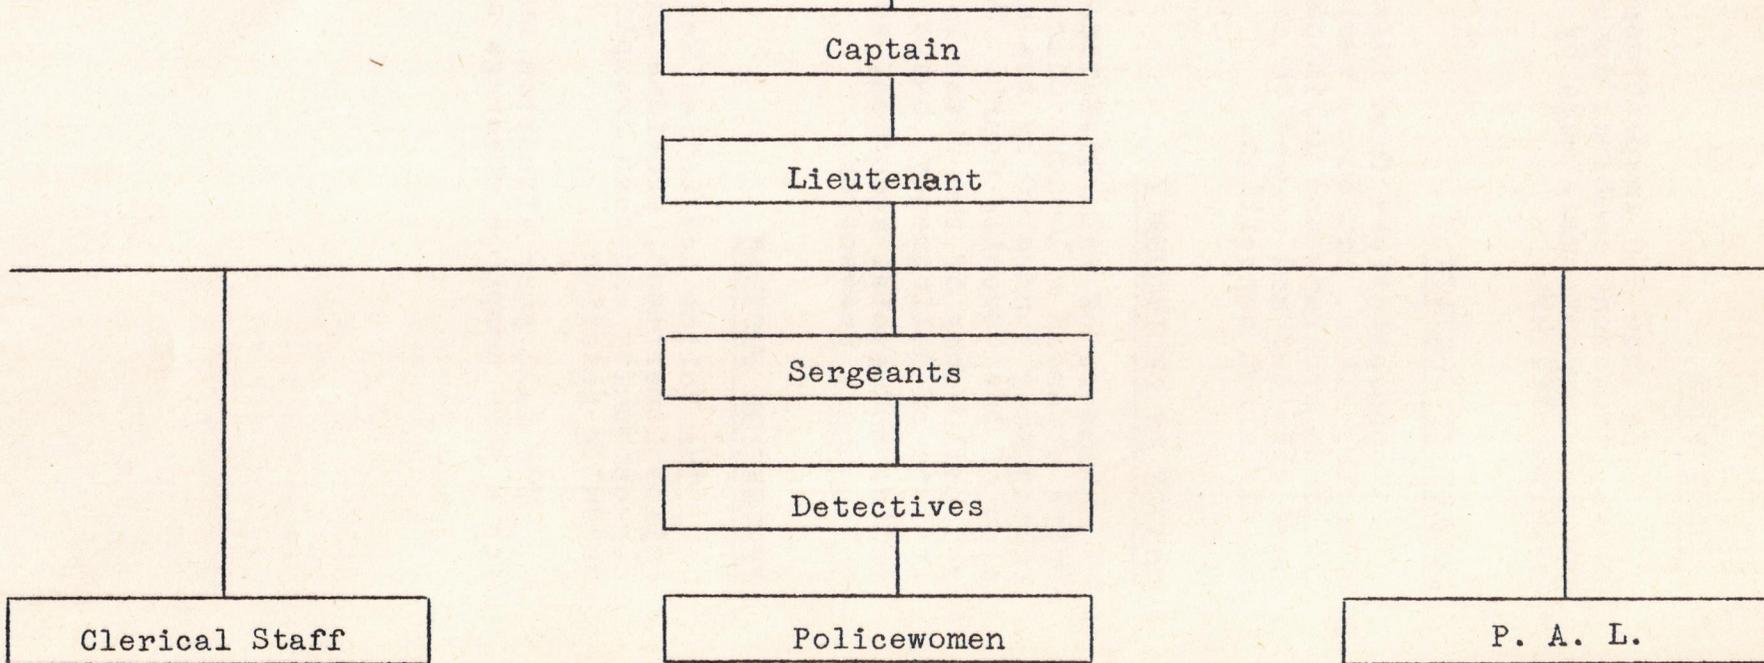

The Police Activities League, a project of the Honolulu Police Department, provides wholesome recreation to youths of our community and best exemplifies the modern program of police-juvenile relation.

We call your attention to another section of this report for a more complete coverage of the activities of PAL.

POLICE ACTIVITIES LEAGUE

Immediately upon his return from the Mainland in 1947, Chief Dan LIU, who was inspired by the work of the Police Athletic League in New York, organized the Police Activities League - PAL in short. He changed the word "Athletic" to "Activities" to include in its program such outlets as arts, crafts, hobbies and vocations.

The objectives of PAL as provided by its constitution are as follows: "to develop a friendly relationship between youngster and police officer; and to cultivate and improve the moral and civic standards of the youth in our communities. Its major purposes are: to foster the spirit of loyalty and faith in American Traditions, the promotion and safeguarding of youth, promote a spirit of sportsmanship, benevolence, friendship, sociability, goodwill, and tolerance; to provide a meeting place and the promotion of common interest of youth."

With this objective, the PAL served nearly 2,000 youngsters during 1956. From January to February, the children took part in volleyball while the months of March, April, and May saw nearly 500 children taking an active part in softball.

The annual PAL track meet held during March and April at McKinley High School had nearly 500 boys participating from PAL clubs throughout the city of Honolulu proper.

During the summer months, the PAL baseball leagues had 50 teams entered in the Midget League, PONY League, and Louis Camacho League. The baseball season revealed many rookies who played in the minors, who eventually will be working their way up to the majors. Following the professional leagues, the major league of the midgets saw eight complete ball teams in the National League and another eight in the American League. At the end of the season, a world series was held for the youngsters with the Cubs from Kuliouou emerging victorious over a gallant group of youngsters from Wahiawa, Oahu, who called themselves the White Sox.

To the victorious Cubs went the "spoils" of a trip to Molokai for the inter-island series which saw teams from Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Lanai, Honolulu, Waipahu, and Kauai entered. This series was held not with the objective of determining a territorial champion, but to foster the idea of developing comradeship and fellowship and to maintain good relationships among all the islands through every American's favorite sport--Baseball.

October to December were busy months, for this was basketball season for the PAL. Each Saturday during these months, the PAL gym, a warehouse donated by the Army and converted into a gymnasium, was filled with biddy basketball teams. Well coached and drilled in the fundamentals of the sport, the children played a good brand of basketball and drew large crowds who enjoyed the spirited play of the youngsters. These same boys from 7 years of age up to 12 years of age played before service organizations and other audiences who were pleased to see the youngsters play so well. Many of these youngsters who joined the PAL during the basketball season were "green" boys who could hardly dribble a ball; but by the end of the season, they sprinted down-court like seasoned players.

During October, the PAL, in order to combat the latest "rock and roll" fad being carried on in unfavorable places, decided to use the gym facilities to provide a place where the children could "bop," "rock," and "roll" under careful supervision. Feeling that it was unwise to rule out such dances completely, the staff through the generosity of various firms and individuals in town were able to install a juke box for the "rock and roll sessions." Refreshments, too, were served at these dances through the generosity of service and private organizations combined. From a meager start of about 75 children each Saturday from 7:00PM to 11:00PM, the activity has now swelled to capacity crowds of three hundred. In order to avoid any youngster to stray from his path home, the youngsters are transported home in the ever-faithful "open-aire" PAL bus.

Popular activities also were the woodshop, wood-carving, hula-dancing, biddy-boxing, judo, ping-pong and quiet games such as checkers, cards, and dominoes.

The biddy boxing program held on KGMB T.V. was highly popular, and the little boxers tried their hardest to get on the program. There were about 200 boys interested in boxing; and because it was impossible to give each one a chance to box on T.V., special bouts were made for presentation at Schofield Barracks and for the Kailua community. Because the children are matched according to height, weight, and age standards plus the use of 16-ounce gloves and a well-padded floor and head-guards, the chance of a boy being injured was almost nil. Throughout the year, no boy was injured in biddy boxing aside from minor bruises and scratches.

The PAL in Honolulu was divided into 17 different clubs with each club taking in all youngsters from their own districts. Because some of the clubs were so large, many resorted to intra-club sports and activities. Such was the case of the Vandals A.C., which has about 300 members. The club ran its own softball and basketball program while entering teams in the regular PAL leagues. Rather than have too many teams entered in the PAL league, the clubs were encouraged to form their own leagues within their clubs so that the boys and girls would be constantly active.

The success of PAL program can be attributed to the assistance and support given by team officials, advisors, donors, business establishments and various organizations, to whom we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation.
