HONOLULU RAIL TRANSIT PROJECT

System Supplier/Contractor Workshop

Friday, August 22, 2008

7:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m.

Pioneer Plaza Building, Plaza Club Crown Room - 20th Floor • 900 Fort Street Mall, Honolulu, Hawaii

The Project

The Honolulu High Capacity Transit Corridor Project Team is soliciting interest and input from rail transit system suppliers and contractors for its rail transit project. Plans are to purchase approximately 60 rail vehicles, 20 traction power substations and train control and communications systems consistent with full automatic operations.

The Workshop

It has been determined that civil works for the project will be procured in a number of individual construction packages. Within the project team, discussions are currently underway to determine the most appropriate way to procure and install the four major systems elements of the project (vehicles, train control, communications and traction power). The Project Team wishes to hold discussions with prospective suppliers and contractors for these systems. In order to accomplish this, open System Supplier/Contractor meetings will be held in Honolulu on August 22, 2008.

The Format

The format for the System Supplier/Contractor meetings will include a presentation by the project team followed by individual meetings with participating suppliers and contractors during the remainder of the day. Meetings will be limited to those companies who provide or install one or more of the major systems elements. Individual company meetings are not intended for subsystem suppliers and design consultants. Time allotment for individual company meetings will be allocated depending on the number of respondents and the availability of appropriate project staff.

The Sessions

Suppliers and contractors may organize their individual meetings in the manner of their choosing, but time should be allowed for discussion of issues with the project staff. The morning presentation will be held at Honolulu, Hawaii. The times and locations of individual company meetings will be provided to participants during the week of August 18th and at the meeting.

Companies who wish to participate in these discussion should register no later than August 8th at honolulurailtransit@gmail.com. Please call (808) 768-6195 with any questions. Registration fee is $25 and includes breakfast.

See reverse side for registration form.
